What is a Search Engine?

A search engine is a web site connected to a database that catalogs other Web sites. It will search the actual text of other web sites. A computer search program, or spider, follows links on web pages to regularly and automatically rebuild this database.

Top Search Engines in the World

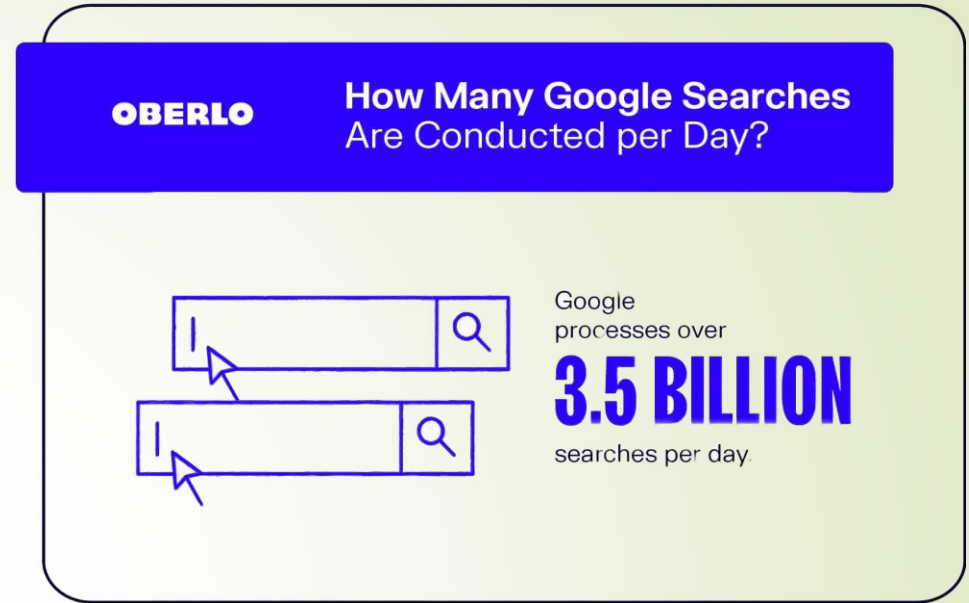

92.26%

Google is the most popular search engine with a stunning 92.26% market share compared to 2.83% of second place Bing

Google processes

- 40,000 search queries every second
- More than 3.5 billion searches per day
- More than 1.2 trillion searches a year globally

Google has permeated our digitally-reliant lives to such an extent, that the very word 'Google' has become a verb.

The image shows a Google search interface for the term "seniors". The search bar at the top left contains the text "seniors". To the right of the search bar are icons for a camera, microphone, and a magnifying glass. Further right are the Google Assistant icon (a grid of dots) and a profile icon with the letter "H". Below the search bar is a navigation bar with tabs for "All", "News", "Images", "Videos", "Maps", and "More". The "Images" tab is currently selected and underlined. To the right of these tabs are links for "Settings", "Tools", "Collections", and "SafeSearch". The "Collections" link is circled in red. Below the navigation bar is a row of topic-based image suggestions: "high school", "happy", "beach", "clipart", "dating", "exercise", and "group". At the bottom of the page, there is a horizontal carousel of image thumbnails. The first thumbnail shows an elderly man and woman playing cards. The second shows an elderly woman laughing with her eyes closed, with a man's face partially visible next to her. The third shows an elderly couple smiling together.

Let's Do Some Searching!

How advanced search syntax will make your searches better

- Reduce the number of results you have to look through
 - Get more relevant results that are specific to what you're looking for
 - Bring your relevant results right to the top
 - Access better information, faster
 - Gain a better understanding of how a search engine works

Some Hints

- Start simple
- Ignore spelling
- Use web friendly words - instead of saying my head hurts, say headache
- Less is more - Simple, one or two word search terms will usually give you the broadest results. Start with short search terms, then refine your results by adding more words.
- Use descriptive words
- Add words found on resulting pages
- Don't worry about cases - Search isn't case sensitive
- Don't worry about punctuation Search ignores punctuation such as @ # % ^ * () = [] \ and other special characters.

The image shows a screenshot of a Google search page. At the top left is the Google logo. To its right is a search bar containing the text "937488993" followed by a greyed-out portion and "5527047". A magnifying glass icon is on the right side of the search bar. Below the search bar are navigation tabs: "All" (underlined), "Maps", "Videos", "Images", "Shopping", "More", "Settings", and "Tools". Below the tabs, it says "About 0 results (0.33 seconds)". The main content area features a box titled "Track a package" with a sub-search bar containing the same tracking number "937488993" and "5527047". To the right of this sub-search bar is a blue button labeled "FIND CARRIER". Below this are two links: "Track via DHL" and "Track via USPS", each with a blue right-pointing arrow. At the bottom right of the page is a "Feedback" link.

Internet speed test

Check your internet speed in under 30 seconds. The speed test usually transfers less than 40 MB of data, but may transfer more data on fast connections.

To run the test, you'll be connected to Measurement Lab (M-Lab) and your IP address will be shared with them. M-Lab conducts the test and publishes all test results to promote internet research. Published information includes each device's IP address, but doesn't include information about you as an internet user.

Boolean Search in Google

- AND: Searches for all the search terms you specify, e.g., search Amazon AND Rainforest for websites that include both terms.
- OR: Searches for one term or another, e.g., search how to draw OR paint if you'd like results on either term but not necessarily both.
- Group words in a phrase with quotation marks, e.g., search "sausage biscuits" for results that include only the words together.

Boolean Operators Are Case Sensitive

Google may not care about uppercase or lowercase letters in search terms, but Boolean searches are case sensitive. For a Boolean operator to work, it must be in all capital letters.

For example, a search for freeware for Windows OR Mac gives different results than a search for freeware for Windows or Mac.

Google Search Tips, Tricks and Hacks

One of the largest hurdles of using Google is the amount you must weed through. Manipulate your Google search with a couple hacks to retrieve a more relevant set of results.

- `site:XXXX`
- `-XXXX`
- `filetype:XXXX`
- `cache:XXXX` Retrieves an older version of the page from Google's cache

Refining the Search

There are many other ways to manipulate your search within Google:

- Word order--add your search terms in the order you think they will appear on the page
- Wildcard--an asterisk "*" can substitute for a word in a phrase
- Synonyms-- use a tilde: ~ in front of a word to find terms that Google thinks are synonyms for your term.
- Stemming-- Google will automatically stem a word (stem will find stems, stemming, stemmer, etc) unless you put a plus symbol "+" in front of it.
- Common words-- Drop superfluous words such as and, but, this, that, etc from your search. Google will ignore them anyway so save time and don't type them.

Google Search Operators: The Complete List (42 Advanced Operators)

Joshua Hardwick ▪ Updated: August 3 2020 ▪ English ▾

For anyone that's been doing SEO for a while, Google advanced search operators—i.e., special commands that make regular ol' searches seem laughably basic in comparison—are nothing new.

Here's a Google search operator you may be familiar with.
